Church Family,

Before I wrote this article today, all morning I have been planning and working on children’s camp and youth camp details. For anyone that has ever planned or prepared for children’s events like camp, VBS, etc. you will readily agree that there are LOADS of details. Things like menus, sponsors, cooks, permission forms, release forms, liability forms, packing lists, and it continues. I do not mind it though. I am serious when I say that. I do not mind the details, because I know that it will lead to something better and it will be worth it all.

Not long ago I was discussing with a friend about buildings and foundations. I was sharing with him about our plans to build a gym/fellowship hall here at Silo Baptist Church. I was saying that we were still in the planning phases and having built buildings as well, he commented, “Oh I understand that.” He understands because he has been there. He knows the importance of taking care of as many details as you can before you start a major project. I shared with him, “It is a lot of leg work right now, but the end result will be worth it.” Camps, VBS, Truth Seekers, Sunday School, and worship services all require a lot of behind the scenes work and preparation, but the end result is that the gospel of Jesus Christ will be proclaimed, sinners will hear the good news and be converted, and God will get the glory!!

This brings me to a request. We need your prayers. Pray for Lisa Carter. She is working hard to prepare for Truth Seekers each week. She is doing this while battling with MS. Pray for her stamina to stay up and pray the same for all of the teachers and workers in Truth Seekers.

Pray for the building committee. Ask God to grant them the abilities to accomplish all of the details and matters of importance in order that we can see the completion of the gym/fellowship hall.

Finally, pray and ask God where you might be able to serve Him. We need help in the nursery for Sunday School. I am thankful that we have babies at Silo Baptist Church, but we need to make sure that our nursery director, Ashley McLarry, has adequate help to take care of God’s little blessings each week.

For His glory,
Bro. Ray Earley
